

Wild Northeaster Cost Nears $20,000

Heights Area Approved As Elderly Housing Site

Mystic St. Costs Seen $122,000

The relocation of Mystic street and various other long-discussed changes in Arlington Center came to the fore again this week.

Town Engineer Wilbur R. Roby estimated that nearly $500,000 will have to be spent on five possible changes.

According to estimates given by Roby to the Arlington Development Commission, the relocation of Mystic street would cost $122,000.

Of this figure, it is thought that the State would carry the brunt of the load paying about 80 percent of the figure.

Other plans under consideration also were estimated by the engineer.

Roby said that a proposed Pleasant street underpass would cost $250,000, work on Winslow street from Mystic to Water st. would cost $51,500, extending Winslow street from Water to Mill st., would cost $29,800 and extending Water street from Russell to Summer would cost $24,200.

All of the plans have been discussed many times as Arlington officials and citizens attempt to solve the problems of Arlington Center. None of course are definite. They are suggestions.

The State has approved Reservoir Field at a site for an Old Age Housing Development, it was learned yesterday afternoon.

Robert Hauser, executive secretary to the Authority, said that he has been told the State has approved the area.

He said that an article, asking that the area be turned over to the Authority for a housing development for Arlington's aged will definitely be inserted in the Warrant for the annual Town Meeting.

Hauser said that current plans call for 50 to 60 apartments.

"The exact number hinges on the laying out of streets," he said.

The Housing Authority met with the Selectmen last month to discuss possible sites. Reservoir Field was agreed upon.

At that time the Board said that it would favor the sale of the land for one dollar to the Authority.

Twice the Authority has failed in attempts to obtain land at Summer and Mystic streets for the development. The land now aimed for lies at one end of Reservoir Field. It does not include the baseball diamond.

Plans for access into the area from Massachusetts ve., have already been drawn and studied.

Hauser said that the area is near secondary shopping facilities and transportation.

SELECTMEN deferred taking action on an article asking the taking of the Russell Common by eminent domain this week, pending attendance of a full board. Selectman Marcus Sorensen was absent Monday because of a death in his family.

SNOW AT LAST—While motorists and pedestrians struggled through the season's first snow storm with mixed feelings, these four Arlington youths were unanimous in applauding winter's arrival. Kermit Kincaid, Brian Kincaid, Chris Kenefick and Andrew Kincaid pack down the snow to make a fort.

Owner of Property Spikes Rumors Of Center Branch For Boston Store

Walter Shaw Enters Assessors Campaign

A challenge to Assessor William O. Hauser and the dropping out of a candidate for Selectman made up the election news here this week.

Walter D. Shaw, 178 Thorndike st., this week took out papers for assessor.

He and Hauser are the only candidates at the moment.

It was also learned that Victoria Craig will not seek election to the Selectman post. She had taken out papers previously.

Announced last week was the entrance of Charles W. Blackmon into the School Committee campaign.

Rumors that a large Boston department store may open a branch at the corner of Mystic street and Massachusetts ave., were spiked by the owner of the building yesterday.

The Arlington Department Store is going out of business about Feb. 1.

Because of this, rumors that one of Boston's largest stores would move to Arlington Center began to spread.

Goode said that he has no definite tenant lined up for the store at the present time. He said he is negotiating with several firms.

He said that parking conditions are making negotiations difficult.

"Prospective tenants are afraid of the parking situation here," Goode said.

Although the municipal parking lot is directly across the street from the store, Goode said, "it is difficult to get into the parking area unless you are coming from Winchester."

The lease of the Stop and Shop, next to the soon-to-be vacated store does not expire until 1959.

January 27 Deadline For Warrant Article

The Warrant for the Annual Town Meeting will close Jan. 27.

The Board of Selectmen declared the Warrant open Monday night.

By vote of the Board, the Warrant will close Monday, Jan. 27 at 5 p.m.

The Town Meeting will open Monday, March 17.

The Town Election will be held March 3 with the polls open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. as usual.

THE SELECTMEN this week accepted the resignation of Mrs. Evelyn Mantyla, 39 Rockmont rd., as an election inspector in Precinct 12A.

Ring Sanatorium First Accredited Private Hospital

Notice was received Friday that Ring Sanatorium in Arlington is the first private mental hospital in the United States to be accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

The Commission includes representatives of the American Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons, the American Hospital Association and the American and Canadian Medical Associations.

Ring Sanatorium, founded in 1879 and since 1950 under the guidance of Dr. Benjamin Simon, has attained national recognition as one of the outstanding hospitals in the country for the treatment of mental disorders.

Board Plans Hearing For Appleton Place

The laying out of Appleton Place, defeated by the Town Meeting of 1954, is again under consideration by the Board of Selectmen.

A hearing on the matter will be held Monday night at 8:30 p.m. at the Town Hall.

Some residents have unofficially protested the construction.

The total cost of the project would be $30,634. The total assessments to property owners would be $2,830.

Assessments have been reduced.

A 75 percent assessment would be made because the project falls under the category of public service.

At the 1957 Town Meeting, a committee was appointed to study the problems of parking and passage behind the Junior West. This Committee met with the Selectmen on the matter two weeks ago.

Clarence Hill Resigns As Meeting Member

Clarence F. Hill, a Town Meeting Member for the past 18 years, has tendered his resignation, it was announced yesterday by Town clerk James J. Golden.

Hill, who lives at 48 Gray st., has been a Town Meeting Member in Precinct 6 since 1939.

A wild Northeaster whirled through Arlington Tuesday night, leaving in its wake eight inches of snow, stalled automobiles, snarled traffic, downed wires and branches, and an estimated cost of $15,000 to $20,000.

Many residents called the Advocate yesterday to complain of what they termed "impossible traffic conditions."

Town Manager Edward C. Monahan said yesterday that the whole Town was being replowed. He said that the sudden thaw yesterday afternoon, plus the threat of zero weather last night made replowing necessary.

As a rough estimate, he said that the cost of the storm would range between $15,000 and $20,000.

Frank O'Hara, superintendent of public works described the storm as the "nastiest in my experience."

Local plowing contractors termed the plowing as "almost impossible" due to the heavy, wet nature of the snow.

Monahan said that eight sanders were in action Tuesday afternoon as the snow began to "pack down."

A total of 22 pieces of equipment, all town-owned, battled the storm until midnight. Outside contractors were then called in making a total of more than 40 pieces in action.

Monahan said that most streets were passable Tuesday morning.

O'Hara said that the cleaning of corners was essential as mountains of snow began to melt.

The afternoon thaw was turning streets into a veritable quagmire of slush yesterday afternoon.

The snow began to fall about 3:30 p.m. Tuesday. As the day progressed, the fury of the miniature blizzard intensified.

By the rush hour, traffic was jammed everywhere. Mystic street and Massachusetts ave., became almost impassable as cars, unable to make the hill slithered sideways, blocking vehicles behind them.

By midnight, strong icy gales were whistling through Arlington causing heavy drifting in the Heights.

Wires were reported down on Lowell st., Tufts st., Devereaux st., and Spy Pond Parkway. Wires were also arcing on Park ave.

Many residents abandoned their cars when they found the driving conditions impossible.

The stalled and abandoned cars created a plowing and traffic difficulty Wednesday morning.

The Police Department tagged many of the abandoned automobiles.

Only accident reported occurred Wednesday morning. Gerald Cusick of 38 Edgemoor rd., suffered a cut over the left eye when he walked into a stop sign which had been bent by a skidding vehicle earlier.

The mishap occurred in front of the Robbins Library.

Monahan said that no snow removal had started as the Advocate went to press.

Classes were cancelled in all Arlington schools.

Seven Arlington Men Face Duty As Jurors

Seven Arlington men were drawn for jury duty by the Board of Selectmen Monday night.

Drawn for duty at Cambridge for the Feb. 3 session are Garabed H. Caracashian, 3 Bartlett ave., Chester M. Carr, 21 Egerton rd., Richard Dooley, 12 Jean rd., Arthur Foregon, 5 Amsden st., Warren H. Daniels, 179 Palmer st., and Vincent C. Fabin, 50 Amsden st.

Drawn for duty at Lowell Feb. 3 is Joseph D. Cronin, 3 Aerial st.

Record Crowds Use Town Skating Areas

All records were broken on the supervised skating areas of the Town last Sunday.

Over 1,200 tots and adults enjoyed day and evening skating at Meadow Brook Park and some 800 were at Hills Pond.

Ike Canty, supt. of parks and recreation, reports that he does not remember ever seeing larger crowds skating in Arlington.

Other areas used were Ethel Wellington, 75; North Union, 300; Parallel Street, 10; Hardy School, 24; Waldo Road, 16; Robbins Farm, 25; Crosby School, 40.

These estimates were made at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Trackmen Bow To Watertown

Defending champion Watertown handed Arlington high school its first Metropolitan League track loss Saturday at the Armory.

Watertown piled up a 48-28 victory.

Watertown took first place in seven of the nine events and recorded clean sweeps in the shot put and relay events. Arlington's lone victories came in the 50 yard dash and 300 with Bobby Golden and Dick McElligott chalking up their second straight wins. McElligott took the 300 in 38.8. Golden raced over the 50 yard distance in six seconds flat.

Paul Hogman took second in the 600 while team mate Stan Hutchinson grabbed a second place in the mile.

High jumping Pete Freyer took two seconds, one in the high jump and the other in the hurdles.

Hal Ameral, Jerry Gracti, and Fred Strachan took third place points in the 300, 1,000, and mile events.

This Saturday, the locals will be favored over Belmont.

JayVe's Win

The AHS junior varsity found it tough going before downing the Brookline JV basketball team. Arlington finally won 39-30.

After blanking Brookline for the entire first period, the locals seemed to be in command. But Brookline bounced right back to tie the score at 24-all at the end of the third period.

Arlington switched to an all-court press to stop the Townie surge and then went on to win.

Arlington's Tom White led the local scorers with 17 points. He scored eight points in the deciding fourth period. Guard Gerry MacLaughlin was next with nine points.

Arlington Quintet Downs Brookline

The Arlington high school basketball team was forced to come from behind to down a scrappy Brookline five at the Junior High West Friday night.

The final count was 46-42. Catching Coach George Lowder's local quintet by surprise, the Wealthy Towners took a 10-9 lead at the end of the first period.

The Arlington attack began to jell in the second period as Bobby Mattola led a Red and Gray surge. Mattola poured in three baskets as the locals took a 25-14 lead at the half.

Fine rebounding by Arlington's Bill Scully, Capt. Jay Donovan, and Carl Lind held Brookline to only two baskets in this stanza.

Arlington coasted through the third period and entering the last stanza held a comfortable ten point edge.

Then the roof fell in. The AHS offense again went cold and Brookline began to move closer and closer. With two minutes left to play the visitors forged ahead 38-37.

While bringing the ball up court Scully was fouled, and the lanky forward dropped both shots through the hoop to put the Lowdermen in the lead again.

Bobby Mattola came through with two clutch baskets and a five point margin but Brookline came on again to move within one point of AHS with 30 seconds remaining.

Carl Lind then broke loose from his defender, took a quick pass from Mattola and laid it in and then Donovan picked up another point on a foul shot.

Mattola paced the attack with 12 points, followed by Scully with 11 and Donovan 10.

Arlington Six Shuts Out Rindge In G. B. I. Clash

The Arlington high school hockey team rang up its second GBI victory at the Arena Saturday, shutting out Rindge Tech 4-0.

Jack Allen, Paul Aiken and Harry Howell accounted for all the Arlington goals.

Allen scored twice. Howell had two goals and an assist, and Aiken had three assists.

The Red and Gray jumped off to an early lead in the first period.

Aiken carried along the boards and fired a shot which hit the post to the left of the goalie. The alert Allen picked it up and banged it into the net from about 10 feet out.

Three minutes later, Howell scored on a solo rush, firing the puck through the goalie's pads from ten feet away.

At 1:45 of the second stanza, Aiken and Howell set up Allen with two fine passes. Jack grabbed the puck and hit the lamp with a low sizzler.

Less than two minutes later Howell notched his second tally on a screened slap shot. Coach Eddie Burns emptied his bench when it appeared

FIRST NATIONAL STORES

Palm Of Your Hand

Contrary to the national scene, where political upheavals are the rule every two or three elections (never mind how many years intervene between), local elections drone on and on with the "ins" being re-elected and the "outs" just making good tries. Never let it be forgotten that, on the local front, that the man with "candidate for re-election" is usually conceded at least 2500 "sure" votes. Whereas in national political affairs, the "ins" are blamed for every ill — droughts, hurricanes, scandals, economic conditions — whether their direct fault or not.

The reason is fairly simple: the best, and proven vote-getting device is not principals but personal contacts. If the voter "knows" the candidate, he will vote for him every time, for better or worse. If he does not know him or his opponent, the voter then must make some decision based on impersonal things, such as issues!

To expect a U. S. President or Senator or a State Governor to be known, personally, by anything but a very small percentage of the voters is ridiculous.

Did Eisenhower, Saltonstall, Kennedy or Furcolo ever come into your home, speak before your particular lodge or club? Further, a vast majority of eligible voters turn out for national elections. So the personal approach is impossible.

On the other hand, on the local political front the picture is entirely different. One third or less of the voters go to the polls. A candidate for re-election knows at least three hundred voters personally, another three hundred know of him "personally". His wife knows two hundred more and another two hundred "know" her. His brothers and sisters, his aunts and cousins know a few hundred more. The membership of every club or society before which he speaks or attends an installation "knows" him. The entire family of every deceased resident whose funeral he attends "knows" him.

Thus, the local candidate for re-election has about one third of the voters (who vote) "in his pocket" before minor factors, such as issues, are argued and decided upon.

With any effort at all the local candidate for re-election is returned to office whether there are any "issues" or not. Whether you like these blunt words or not, try to disprove them by facts and figures!

Believe us, this is not any condemnation of candidates for political office. Anyone running for office is not worthy of a single vote if he does not try to win. To win takes certain tactics and procedures. The above are tried and proven!

It has been demonstrated that any local candidate who argues issues ought to have his head examined, not when he has the best vote-getting device in the palm of his hand: be known personally.

The answer, on the other hand, is in the "palm of the hand" of conscientious voters who realize personalities wane in the face of issues.

A New Avenue

The Advocate has been striving to point out how little a million dollars in new property means in offsetting the rising tax rate.

A curious and unintended by-product of this is that it tends to point out what terrific problems our top officials and their second echelon face. Naturally, none — the Selectmen, Town Manager, the Superintendent of Public Works, the Chief of the Boys in Blue and others — have stepped forward and said, "Thanks."

Probably, they view all this with suspicion. "What next? Does the paper Advocate a cut in salaries and wages?"

Nothing could be further from our purpose! We have never been a proponent of cheap underpaid help. We feel that our wage and salary scale should be set so that it attracts the best trained and most experienced help.

We firmly support raises to Town employees where indicated and deserved.

This is all proven, sound and practical policy. But what goes wrong in municipal affairs? Simple! Lack of competition through comparison of service produced.

Here is an entirely different avenue for the Personnel Board to consider. The local Board has, more or less, confined itself to comparative studies as to wages and salaries between Arlington and communities of like size or per capita income — or even more nebulous similarities.

We think such comparisons should be much more searching. Such studies are only half the story (or a quarter) if the Board's findings show that this or that department head is paid so much more or so much less than the "average" or the "median" of other communities.

Other questions should be answered too:

- how many employees in a department?
 - what percentage are productive, what percentage supervisory and clerical?
 - how many employees per thousand population in this department as compared to other communities?
 - is the work accomplished comparable?
- (For example, our Public Works Dept. does not collect garbage, nor build many streets yet it does test hydrants, and collect fallen leaves, besides the regular P. W. duties.)
- is there any possible relationship as to how much investment is needed for our Town Hall, Police and Fire stations, Park and Cemetery departments plus equipment to service 48,000 people?
 - how many letters does a certain department turn out in a year? how many typists are needed to do this? how many of these letters need instant response? how many could be answered in a week or so?
 - how many detailed records are kept, not with the basic idea of saving the taxpayers' dollars but to give the department head a "quick answer"?
 - how many employees did a department have when the

Survival Not Enough

In marking its 20th anniversary this month the March of Dimes celebrates a beginning rather than an end.

The very name — March of Dimes — has become, in the past two decades, a household word familiar to the humblest home in the smallest village. Everyone knows that it stands for a service grown indispensable to the American public; that it is a savior of lives and restorer of shattered bodies, a bulwark of help and knowledge in times of crisis.

It was the March of Dimes that gave us the Salk vaccine, a titanic milestone in the history of medical science. It was the March of Dimes that instigated the massive vaccination program of the past two years which has lifted the threat of polio paralysis from millions of lives.

So it is only natural to ask: "Another March of Dimes? Isn't polio finished?"

Answer: "Wrong! Polio is far from finished."

For paralytic polio has left in its wake a heartbreaking toll of human disability. There are 4123 residents of Massachusetts who suffered from its ravages. Some are still entombed in iron lungs; many still imprisoned in wheel chairs. Still more face a lifetime doomed to futility.

The tragedy of this picture is that many of those still disabled need not live a useless life. Many can be released from the hospitals, freed from the iron lungs, lifted from the wheel chairs. Many can be taught to walk again, to use their arms and hands, to rejoin their families, to recover their capabilities for gainful occupation.

That is what the March of Dimes still has to do. This is the meaning of the 1958 theme "Survival Is Not Enough."

Can the March of Dimes perform the new, the bigger, more humanitarian job that still remains unfinished? It is up to you to give the answer with your contribution.

Polio finished? Not till the last victim has been given the ultimate benefits of human ingenuity, the richest fruit of scientific knowledge. Not till tens of thousands of young Americans are given their chance to become once again whole human beings, realizing the full potential that remains within them.

This is the final meaning of Survival Is Not Enough. This is the kind of human sympathy, human fellowship, human care you give when you contribute to the 1958 March of Dimes.

No Place For Whimsy

A considerable amount of controversy is being aired about school-building costs. The Reader's Digest published a story that compared a number of schools and drew the conclusion that many cost too much. Henry Luce's magazine, Architectural Forum, replied with a rebuttal that said mistaken complaints about costliness are giving taxpayers the "synthetic jitters".

We certainly don't intend to add to the confusion, but it seems a good time to cite some facts that have come out of the argument. We're going to need many new schools to meet the educational challenge that Russia has flung at us. To get them, we need some common-sense definitions of what we mean by costliness.

We believe that school-building is one area in which we should stop trying to cut corners, just so long as we know we're paying for honest educational facilities. A science classroom isn't a "frill", and, judging by the military physical fitness reports on our youth, neither is a gymnasium. We think it's a frill to build old-fashioned parapets or otherwise ape the monumental design of the past. It's also a frill to put up with more recent fashions like oversized expanses of glass that have to be covered with draperies and blinds.

There's no doubt that money can be saved by sound design. Even more can be saved by long-range planning and use of proven materials and work methods. By planning ahead, sites can be bought more cheaply, jobs can be bid accurately, and contracts aren't dumped together on a saturated building market. By building soundly with sturdy brick and stone, using local contractors and the community labor force, buildings can be put up that cost no more than so-called "portable" structures and a lot of money can be saved in long-term maintenance and fire safety.

Building schools is a lot like being married. You get out of it just what you put into it, and it isn't the initial investment but the annual cost that counts.

Town had a population of 25,000, 35,000, 48,000? and what "weighted" factor should be instituted?

Believe us, we know of several of the Town's departments which would come through such a minute examination with flags flying; others, we are not so sure.

Here, we believe, lies the difficult yet practical approach to "cost of government" and the services it provides.

MENOTOMY INDIAN

Not too far away, from the hubbub of traffic, The Menotomy Indian does stand, Stalwart, pulsating with life he seems, A bronze figure, so grand.

He is ever alert, with bow and arrow, at his side; A symbol of the red man's tribe. Bending o'er the cool waters, flowing by With hand uplifted, seemingly to imbibe. Created by Cyrus Dallin, an artist supreme, A wondrous work of art is this peaceful scene. Deep silence pervades within the glen, The sun filters through - and the shadows blend. That Man About Town

By MAI

The next Town election in March, 1958, will be something to witness!

There are four ingredients which will make it real spicy, and this is only early January!

To cover the four ingredients quickly, rather than taking them one by one, there is the Selectman's race, with powerful incumbent not re-running; the same race with a formidable coalition pair, running to upset the status quo; another contest — even tho at the State level but with wide impact on the local scene — for representative to the House of Reps on Beacon Hill which is still another coalition; the School Committee race, again with an incumbent not re-running.

We named the above ingredients in our supreme wisdom, in inverse order of importance.

Admittedly, the School Committee contest is usually minor. The incumbents usually are re-elected, fairly automatically. All are powerful vote-getters: Allen, Ashton, Baker, Boyd, Coughlin, Forrest, Morine, Porteus, Stratton. Usually, people such as these would normally be returned to office, year after year.

In other words, if all incumbents run for re-election, the School Committee race seldom brings out much additional vote or interest. Certainly, the average voter is much more concerned with the office of Selectman.

But, this year, everything is so different! This year the voter will see that the School Committee fight is a vital one — in his own mind — because, in 1958, he will feel his vote has some importance.

First, let us take last year. A newcomer defeated an incumbent: Forrest over Strong! This left every local political observer in a state of jitters. The best of them saw (and predicted) that it could happen. However, the fact that it happened still did not leave any soothing syrup. The competent observer said to himself: "Yes, I foresaw it and it happened but am I sure why?"

So, in 1958, last year's race still has a haze of bewilderment. Now add the fact that David Ashton, present chairman, is not going to re-run!

What have you got today? A real state of turbulence where the wielder of a paddle does not know whether he is going up-stream or down. Incumbents re-running are Carl Allen and Mary Porteus. Challengers, so far, are Charles Kent and Charles Blackmon.

This race will have tremendous effect on all other contests in the year 1958, in our opinion.

Secondly in importance, is the Representative Buckley and Aspirant Wedge, combine. Whether by plan or by turn of the cards, this most recent combine challenges the principal or theory behind the Buckley-Saul coalition for Selectman.

Calculated or not, these two coalitions have a single purpose: to upset or overturn the present situation.

The Buckley-Wedge set-up is designed on the practical, political possibility that Republican Hollis M. Gott could lose; and that, if he does, his seat is not going to be taken over by some opportunist. Similarly, the fact that incumbent Selectman Sorensen will not re-run and leaves a spot wide open has created a situation where a coalition is figured as the best, positive answer to win Sorensen's seat whether incumbent George Harris is pushed aside or not.

To those that would challenge our statement that the Rep. John Buckley and Russell Wedge candidates constitute a coalition, we point out that each has been an admirer and supporter of the other for years — whether in youth activity, civic affairs or politics.

Naturally, as a political observer, we rub our hands with glee with the prospect of the '58 elections coming up.

MAT has had a lucious plum tossed in his lap. When it's over, we hope the voters and the Town will find the fruit still firm and palatable.

ICE CREAM — State Health officials have stated they will stand pat on their decision to require ice cream manufacturers to make monthly tests of each flavor of the goods sold to the public. Protest had been made by Haverhill Representative Charles H. Anthony that it would cost dealers making ice cream $1.50 per month for each test with a private testing laboratory and manufacturers with a multitude of flavors would face heavy costs. . . . It was explained that some manufacturers have their own testing facilities and that there are not enough health department chemists to make tests. . . . Rep. Anthony charged that in the last legislative session the health department had resorted to "black-mail" to get funds for more inspectors and failure to win an appropriation resulted in a crackdown on ice cream makers. . . . Health officials said the testing was to control ice cream sold at small stands throughout the state.

FARES — The Boston and Albany Railroad has petitioned the state public utilities commission for authority to increase passenger fares nine cents between Boston and Worcester; 19 cents between Boston and Springfield and 29 cents between Boston and Pittsfield. . . . The rate increase would also boost the minimum fare on B & A lines from 26 to 30 cents.

POLITICS — Former Senator Daniel Rudsten of Boston, Democratic candidate for Governor to oppose Governor Foster Furcolo denounced the annual message of the Governor or contending that it was loaded with insinuations and he said that if the Governor favored a conference on anti-discrimination the Governor should have attended a recent conference in New York; he said that if economy was that watchword there would not have been a recommendation for more judges; if the Governor favored appointment of a woman to the Public Utilities Commission he could have done so before now and that protest against loss of federal funds for the state was an indictment of the Republican and Democratic leaders of Congress, both from Congress.

LEGISLATIVE SPEED — Senator Newland H. Holmes of Weymouth, Republican President of the State Senate has proposed night sessions of legislative committees to speed action on the multitude of proposals pending but House leaders are mum on the proposal.

EDUCATION — A proposal to limit to three the number of professional educators to serve as members of the nine man state board of education, has been recommended favorably by the committee on Education. . . . Opposition was voiced by Commissioner Owen D. Kiernan a former member of the board who said membership should be a choice of the Governor. . . . Advocates of the legislation said an over-balance of educators was not good.

SEWER FINANCE — Senator John J. Beades (D) of Boston has suggested to Metropolitan District Commission officials that they apply for $3,000,000 of federal aid to help construct the $10,000,000 Deer Island sewage treatment plant and thus cut costs for the cities and towns in the area.

COMMUNISM AND ENGINEERS — With attention focused on the Russian move to discharge a satellite, the legislative committee on Education was asked to require teaching of the doctrines of communism in schools, encourage girls to take up engineering and consider installation at the Lowell Technology school of a satellite-missile department.

BOSTON — In order to keep Boston streets clear of cars parked during snow storms, thus hindering snow removal, the city government asked a legislative committee on cities to impose a $100 fine or a 30 day jail sentence on persons entering the city without equipment such as chains, snow tires or shovels, to get off the highways in a storm.

COLLEGES — The committee on Education rejected legislation which would shift Harvard College to Lawrence and MIT to the Harvard site, which the sponsor Winchester Ingersoll Fitch, Beacon Hill encyclopedia salesman said would afford MIT opportunity to develop a football team — Ingersoll is Harvard.

INSURANCE — Rep. Harold A. Palmer (D) of Somerville has called for a special study to consider having the state act as self insurer rather than buying insurance from private companies for liability coverage.

BRIGHTENER — There are those who, even in a record year, will say that business could be better, and the average businessman hates to admit that he is satisfied with the status quo. However, it is heartening at this time to note an industry that anticipates a 1958 wherein sales volume will be close to 1957.

The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association sees in official forecasts of 1.1 million housing starts valued at $17 million and another $15 million worth of home improvement projects a "basis for enthusiasm." Domestic gas range sales, for example, should approximate the 1957 mark of 1.9 million units, with a whopping 19 percent increase in sales of built-in units more than compensating for an anticipated 1.5 per cent decrease in free-standing models.

The demand for bigger new homes and the expansion of existing homes, as American families grow in size and numbers, is reflected in the industry's forecasts of a 1.2 per cent rise in automatic gas water heater sales — and an 11.2 per cent rise in sales of 40-gallon-and-over heaters, as multi-bath homes call for more hot water and improved laundry facilities. Gas central heating equipment sales, according to GAMA's of 1958 forecast, should top the million-unit mark, which would be a 2 per cent increase over 1957.

THINGS TO COME — A cellular concrete, so light it actually floats and can be sawed, chopped with an axe and chiseled into a multiplicity of shapes, has been developed as a multi-purpose building material. . . . A shatterproof metal and plastic window comes preassembled, requires almost no maintenance. . . . For the man who has everything, there's an 18 carat solid gold lawn sprinkler for $12,500 — made only on special order, obviously. A cheaper model in aluminum retails for $12.95.

Programs

Many recent alumni of Arlington High School now college students, returned on Friday to attend traditional Christmas assemblies.

Two assemblies were held so that all students of the school might attend the programs.

Featured at the first assembly, attended by seniors and some juniors, was the girls' choir, and the second assembly, highlighting the mixed rest of the juniors and the chorus, was heard by the sophomores.

Included in both programs were "Love Blooms at Christmas" and "Let it Snow," sung by the Harmonettes, Arlington High's popular feminine vocal sextette.

With two of the regular members ill, Sue Thompson substituted, and the regular members participating were Muriel Wennberg, Ann Vogel, Marilyn McLaughlin and Linda Lewis. Also in both as-semblies, Miss Marilyn McLaughlin sang "Come Unto Him" from Handel's "Messiah."

The orchestra was featured in the popular musical novelty "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town," and both closed with the English folk song, "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

Four Christmas carols were sung by the entire assembly. In the first assembly Whitney's "Christmas Night" was sung as a trio by Kitty Brittain, Ann Britton and Constance Morrison.

This same number was offered as a sextette in the second assembly by Linda Bretcher, Karen Nilson, Lois O'Neil, Judith Tibbets, Diane Thompson and Sue Thompson.

The girls' chorus, in the first assembly, sang two groups, first Bach's "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light" and Mueller's "Over Bethlehem Town," and later "Through the Dark the Dreamers Came" by Daniels and the Catalonian carol "Fum, Fum, Fum."

In the second assembly the mixed chorus sang "Night of Joy and Gladness" by Kountz and Churchill's "Behold I Bring You Good Tidings" as one group and closed with Pohlman's "Song of Nativity" and the German carol "Ye Watchers and Holy Ones."

Carl Lind led the opening devotional exercises, with the reading of the Christmas story from the Bible, and served as master of ceremonies at the first assembly, and Charles Sampson served in the capacity at the second.

The entire program was under the leadership of L. Hasler Einzig, supervisor of music in the schools.

Featured players, representing various countries were Richard Pooley, England; Robert Buckley, Switzerland; Ann Baldwin, France; Susan Peters, Germany; Carolyn White, Norway and Daniel Albert, China.

Carols were sung by the children of each grade and as a finale, "Joy To The World" was sung by a group of children from the fifth and sixth grades.

On the following morning, ice cream was served to all classes under the sponsorship of the P. T. A.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The vital importance of following the example of the Master, Christ Jesus, in our thoughts and actions will be emphasized Sunday at Christian Science services.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Sacrament" is the Golden Text from I Corinthians (5:8): "Let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth."

Select'ons to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (37:22-25): "It is possible,—yea, it is the duty and privilege of every child, man, and woman,—to follow in some degree the example of the Master by the demonstration of Truth and Life, of health and holiness."

From the Bible will be read the following (Mark 16:15): "And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature."

Income Tax Notes

Frank J. Cavanagh, district director of Internal Revenue, announced today that all individuals who plan to prepare a Federal Income Tax Return for a taxpayer who died during 1957 should secure and file special forms with the regular Form 1040 in the event a refund is involved.

Cavanagh particularly called the attention of widows and widowers to the fact that if the refund is under $100 it will be necessary that they file Form 1040 (Individual Income Tax Return); Form 1310 (Statement of Claimant to Refund Due on Behalf of Deceased Taxpayer) together with a copy of the death certificate.

If the refund is over $100, Form 1040, Form 1310 and a death certificate must be filed together with a notarized "Waiver of Claim to Refund Due on Behalf of Deceased" from each child of the deceased over 16 years of age.

In all cases where an administrator or an executive has been appointed a certificate of appointment must be attached to the return when filed.

Those who file deceased taxpayer's returns with all the required forms completely filled out will reduce any delay in the return of the refund.

Failure to submit all the required forms properly filled out will delay the refund check in that correspondence with the executors or next of kin will be necessary before the return can be processed.

All forms are available at the District Director, 174 Ipswich street, Boston, Mass., or may be obtained at any one of the local Internal Revenue Offices throughout the state.

A gala sports night honoring the 1957 Zone 5 champions, the Post 39 Junior Legion Baseball Team, will be held at the Legion Hall Tuesday evening, Jan.

Artie Gore will be the featured speaker along with the Boston Bruins line of Horvath, Stasiuk, and Bucyk.

Park Department Superintendent Ike Canty will be on hand along with High School Football Coach Eddie Burns who will show pictures of the Arlington High-Melrose Football game.

Commander Al Doucet will present jackets in behalf of the Post to the players.

The fathers and friends of the players will be on hand as guests of the Post along with State Legion Baseball Chairman Tom Murray and Middlesex County Chairman Sherman Irving.

The local team rang up a record 18 and 4 league slate losing out to Pittsfield in a heartbreaking semi-final state championship series last summer.

The team had five solid .300 hitters in George Lime-rick, Shorty Gilpatrick, Mike Canavan, Eddie Gallucci, and Ed Brady with Bob Fuller.

Ed Gallucci, Mike Canavan, and Shorty Gilpatrick contributed some excellent pitching.

Practically the entire team graduates this year and Coach Hank Doyle will have to rebuild a new team this coming season.

Post 39 Athletic Officer John Cronin is in charge of the Sports Night and he will be assisted by Bill Callahan, Bob Campobasso, Joe Collins, Dick LeBlanc, and Dick Tashjian. Bill Matheson, Jack Tierney, Joe Lionetta and other Post members will assist.

Also Post 39 Officers Al Doucet, Nick Sackos, Leo Byrne, Joe Daly, James Cusack, Bob D'Unger, Bill McKeever, Stan McEwen, Tom McCarthy, Vic Ellis, Don Preston, John Dempsey, and Sid Kahan.
